Trevor Siemens is a litigation associate with Branch MacMaster LLP. He first joined the firm as an articulated student in 2018.

Trevor has appeared before the Provincial and Supreme Courts of British Columbia. He has advised clients on insurance matters and has supported counsel in a variety of health and class action matters.

During law school, Trevor volunteered for the UBC Law Students' Legal Advice Program and was an assistant editor of the UBC Law Review. Trevor also represented UBC in the Willem C. Vis International Commercial Arbitration Moot.

In addition to his law degree, Trevor is a master's candidate at the Norman Paterson School of International Affairs. While pursuing his master's degree, Trevor was employed in a co-op position with the Trade Policy and Negotiation Branch at Global Affairs Canada, where he assisted in the negotiation of several trade Agreements.
